THE GALING POOK AWARDS

The Galing Pook Awards was launched in 21 October 1993 as a pioneering program that searches and recognizes innovative practices by local government units. LGU finalists with outstanding initiatives are carefully selected and winners are recognized in a very prestigious awarding ceremony.

The awardees of the Galing Pook are chosen from a national search of local governance programs, evaluated through a multilevel rigorous screening process based on positive results and impact, promotion of people's participation and empowerment, innovation, transferability and sustainability, and efficiency of program service delivery.

Beyond the awards, winning programs become models of good governance promoted for adoption in other communities. They provide useful insights and strategies to find innovative solutions to common problems. More importantly, they affirm the community and the local government's commitment to good governance.

For the past 24 years, more than 300 programs from at least 170 local governments/local government alliances were awarded the Galing Pook. These awardees become very important advocates in inspiring other local governments to introduce innovative practices and provide a fertile environment for the replication of successful reforms.

Selection Criteria

Positive Results and Impact	(30%)
Promotion of People's Participation and Empowerment	(30%)
Innovation	(15%)
Transferability and Sustainability	(15%)
Efficiency of Program Service Delivery	(10%)

Selection Process

Eligibility Screening: The GPF secretariat reviews whether the program submissions meet the eligibility criteria.

First Level Screening: The National Selection Committee (NSC) goes over all applications to initially screen and identify programs with high potential. These programs will be turned over to the Regional Selection Committee (RSC).

Second Level Screening: The RSC evaluates and recommends programs for elevation to the next screening level.

Third Level Screening: The NSC reviews the RSC recommendations and identifies the programs for site validation.

Site Validation: Assigned NSC members and (as necessary) selected RSC members and GPF personnel validate program claims and clarify concerns raised in previous screening levels. Results of the validations serve as basis for the NSC to select the programs to be subjected to the final presentation.

Final Presentation and Panel Interview: The local chief executives (LCEs) and/or program officers of qualified entries present and defend their programs before the NSC members and their co-finalists.

Please discuss the innovation being introduced by the program. Innovation is typically understood as the successful introduction of something new and useful, for example introducing new methods, techniques, or practices or new or improved products and services.

It can also be an improvement of something already existing. The innovation may be in the program itself, or in the processes used in implementing the program. If a similar concept has already been introduced or is used elsewhere, kindly explain the value added by the program for it to be deemed innovative.

In the organizational context, innovation may be linked to performance and growth through improvements in efficiency, productivity, quality, service delivery, etc. For innovation to occur, something more than the generation of a creative idea or insight is required: the insight must be put into action to make a genuine difference, resulting for example in new or improved processes within the organization, or changes in the services provided.

PAGE 6: Transferability and Sustainability

Please describe the initiatives towards the institutionalization of the program (e.g. development and implementation of a program strategic plan, passage of ordinances, etc.) to ensure its sustainability even beyond the present administration and/or discontinuation of external assistance.

Incorporate in your recommendations the difficulties and challenges you've faced in the program as well as the means you've employed to address them.
